

Sustainability Post COVID-19

January 2022

Table of Contents

Scope
Key findings
Purpose Intensifies after COVID-19
To B or not to B-Corp?
Costs remain the main barrier to sustainability despite higher awareness
Willingness to pay for sustainability is higher in consumer goods
But how much is too much?
Expensive products not necessarily the most loved
The value of choosing the right claim to win consumers
More human language and less corporate talk
Don't put all your eggs in one basket, diversify and win
Anti-greenwashing EU rules against sustainability claims
Corporate climate awareness is high but action remains low
CEO activism could narrow the gap
Making energy more sustainable takes priority
Carbon neutral claims: Where to play?
Sustainability to gain momentum in investment decisions
Growing importance of ESG in mergers and acquisitions
For companies, environmental is the top ESG factor
Natural capital accountability is the next big thing in sustainability
Regenerative labels going mainstream
Conclusions

About Euromonitor International

Euromonitor International is an independent market intelligence provider. Data, insight and analysis stem from in-the-field research spanning 210 national markets.

Content ranges from the in-depth and country-specific, to key strategic themes with a global range and significance. Products cover a comprehensive range of insights and market data, but can be broadly categorised as:

- Strategy Briefings: Global or regional in scope, and focussing on the most important themes shaping consumer demand, the key markets, competitive environment and future outlook across a range of industries.
- Company Profiles: Analysis dedicated to the world's most significant companies, with detailed insight into their activities, focus of operations, their competitors, their geographic presence and performance.
- Country Reports: For an in-depth understanding of specific countries, whether by industry, economic metrics or consumer trends and lifestyles. These reports cover current trends, consumer demand, market potential and future prospects, with country-specific local insight and comprehensive data, unavailable elsewhere.

For more information on this report, further enquiries can be directed via this link www.euromonitor.com/sustainability-post-covid-19/report.